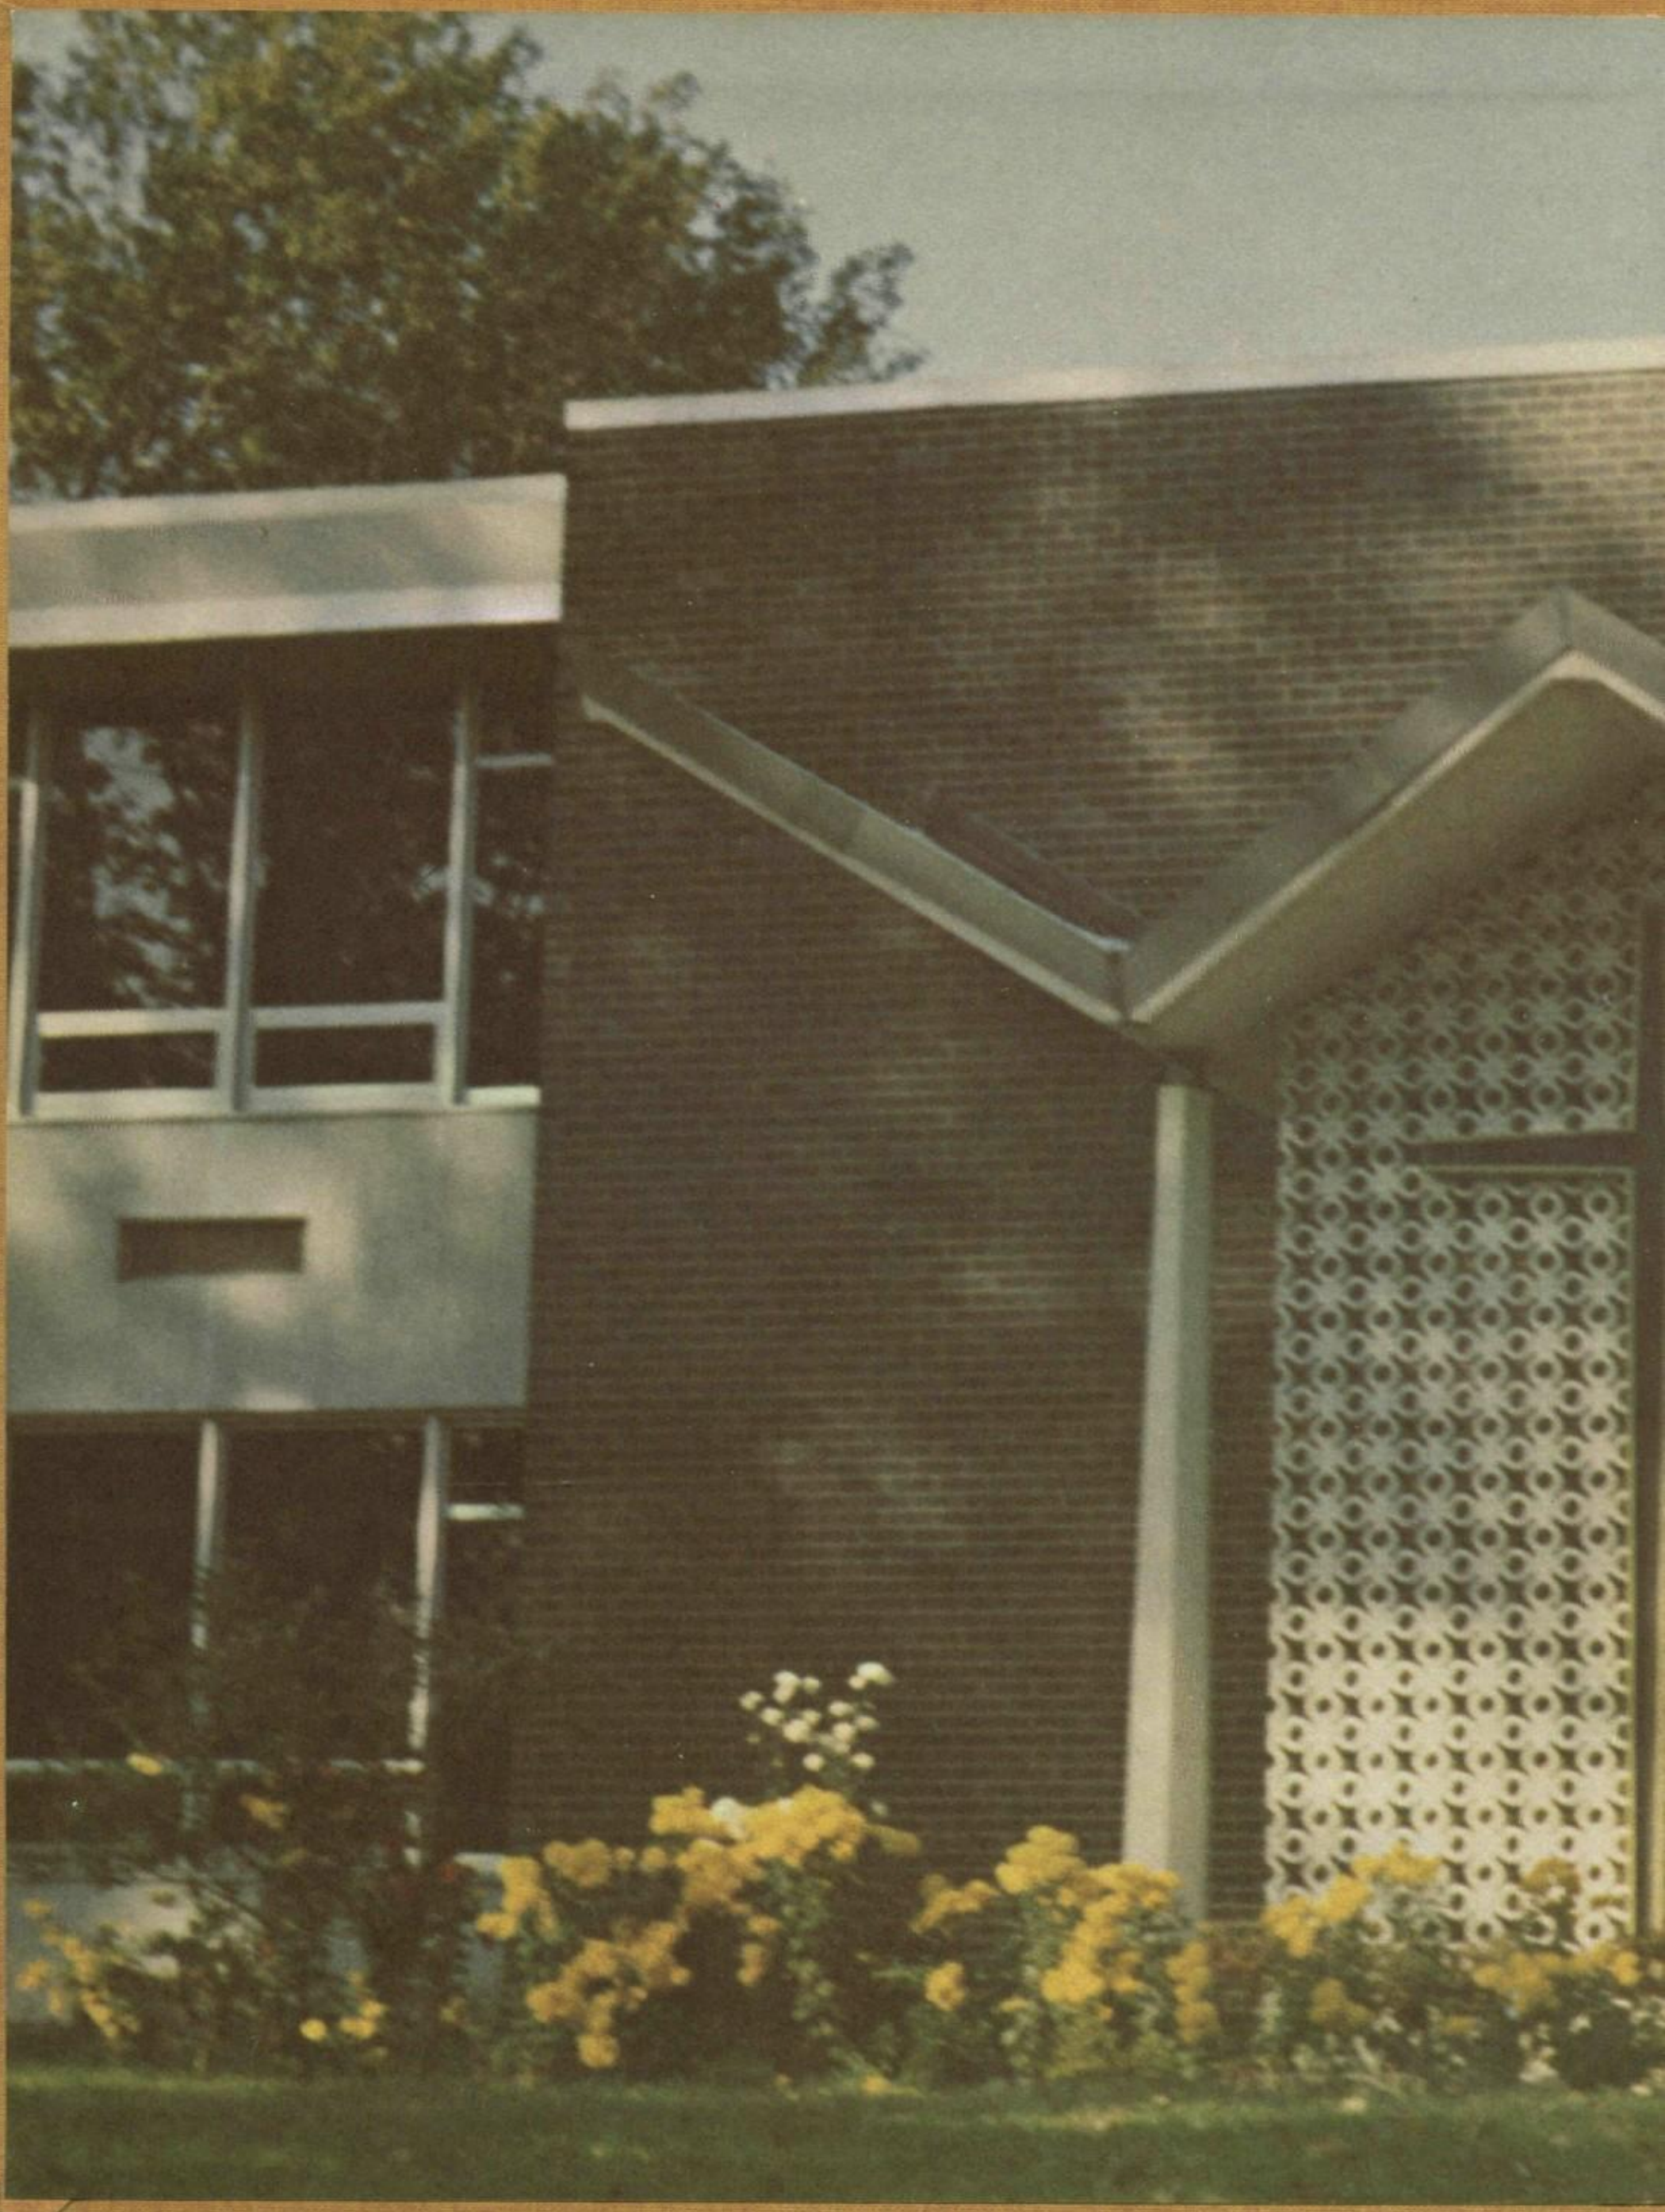
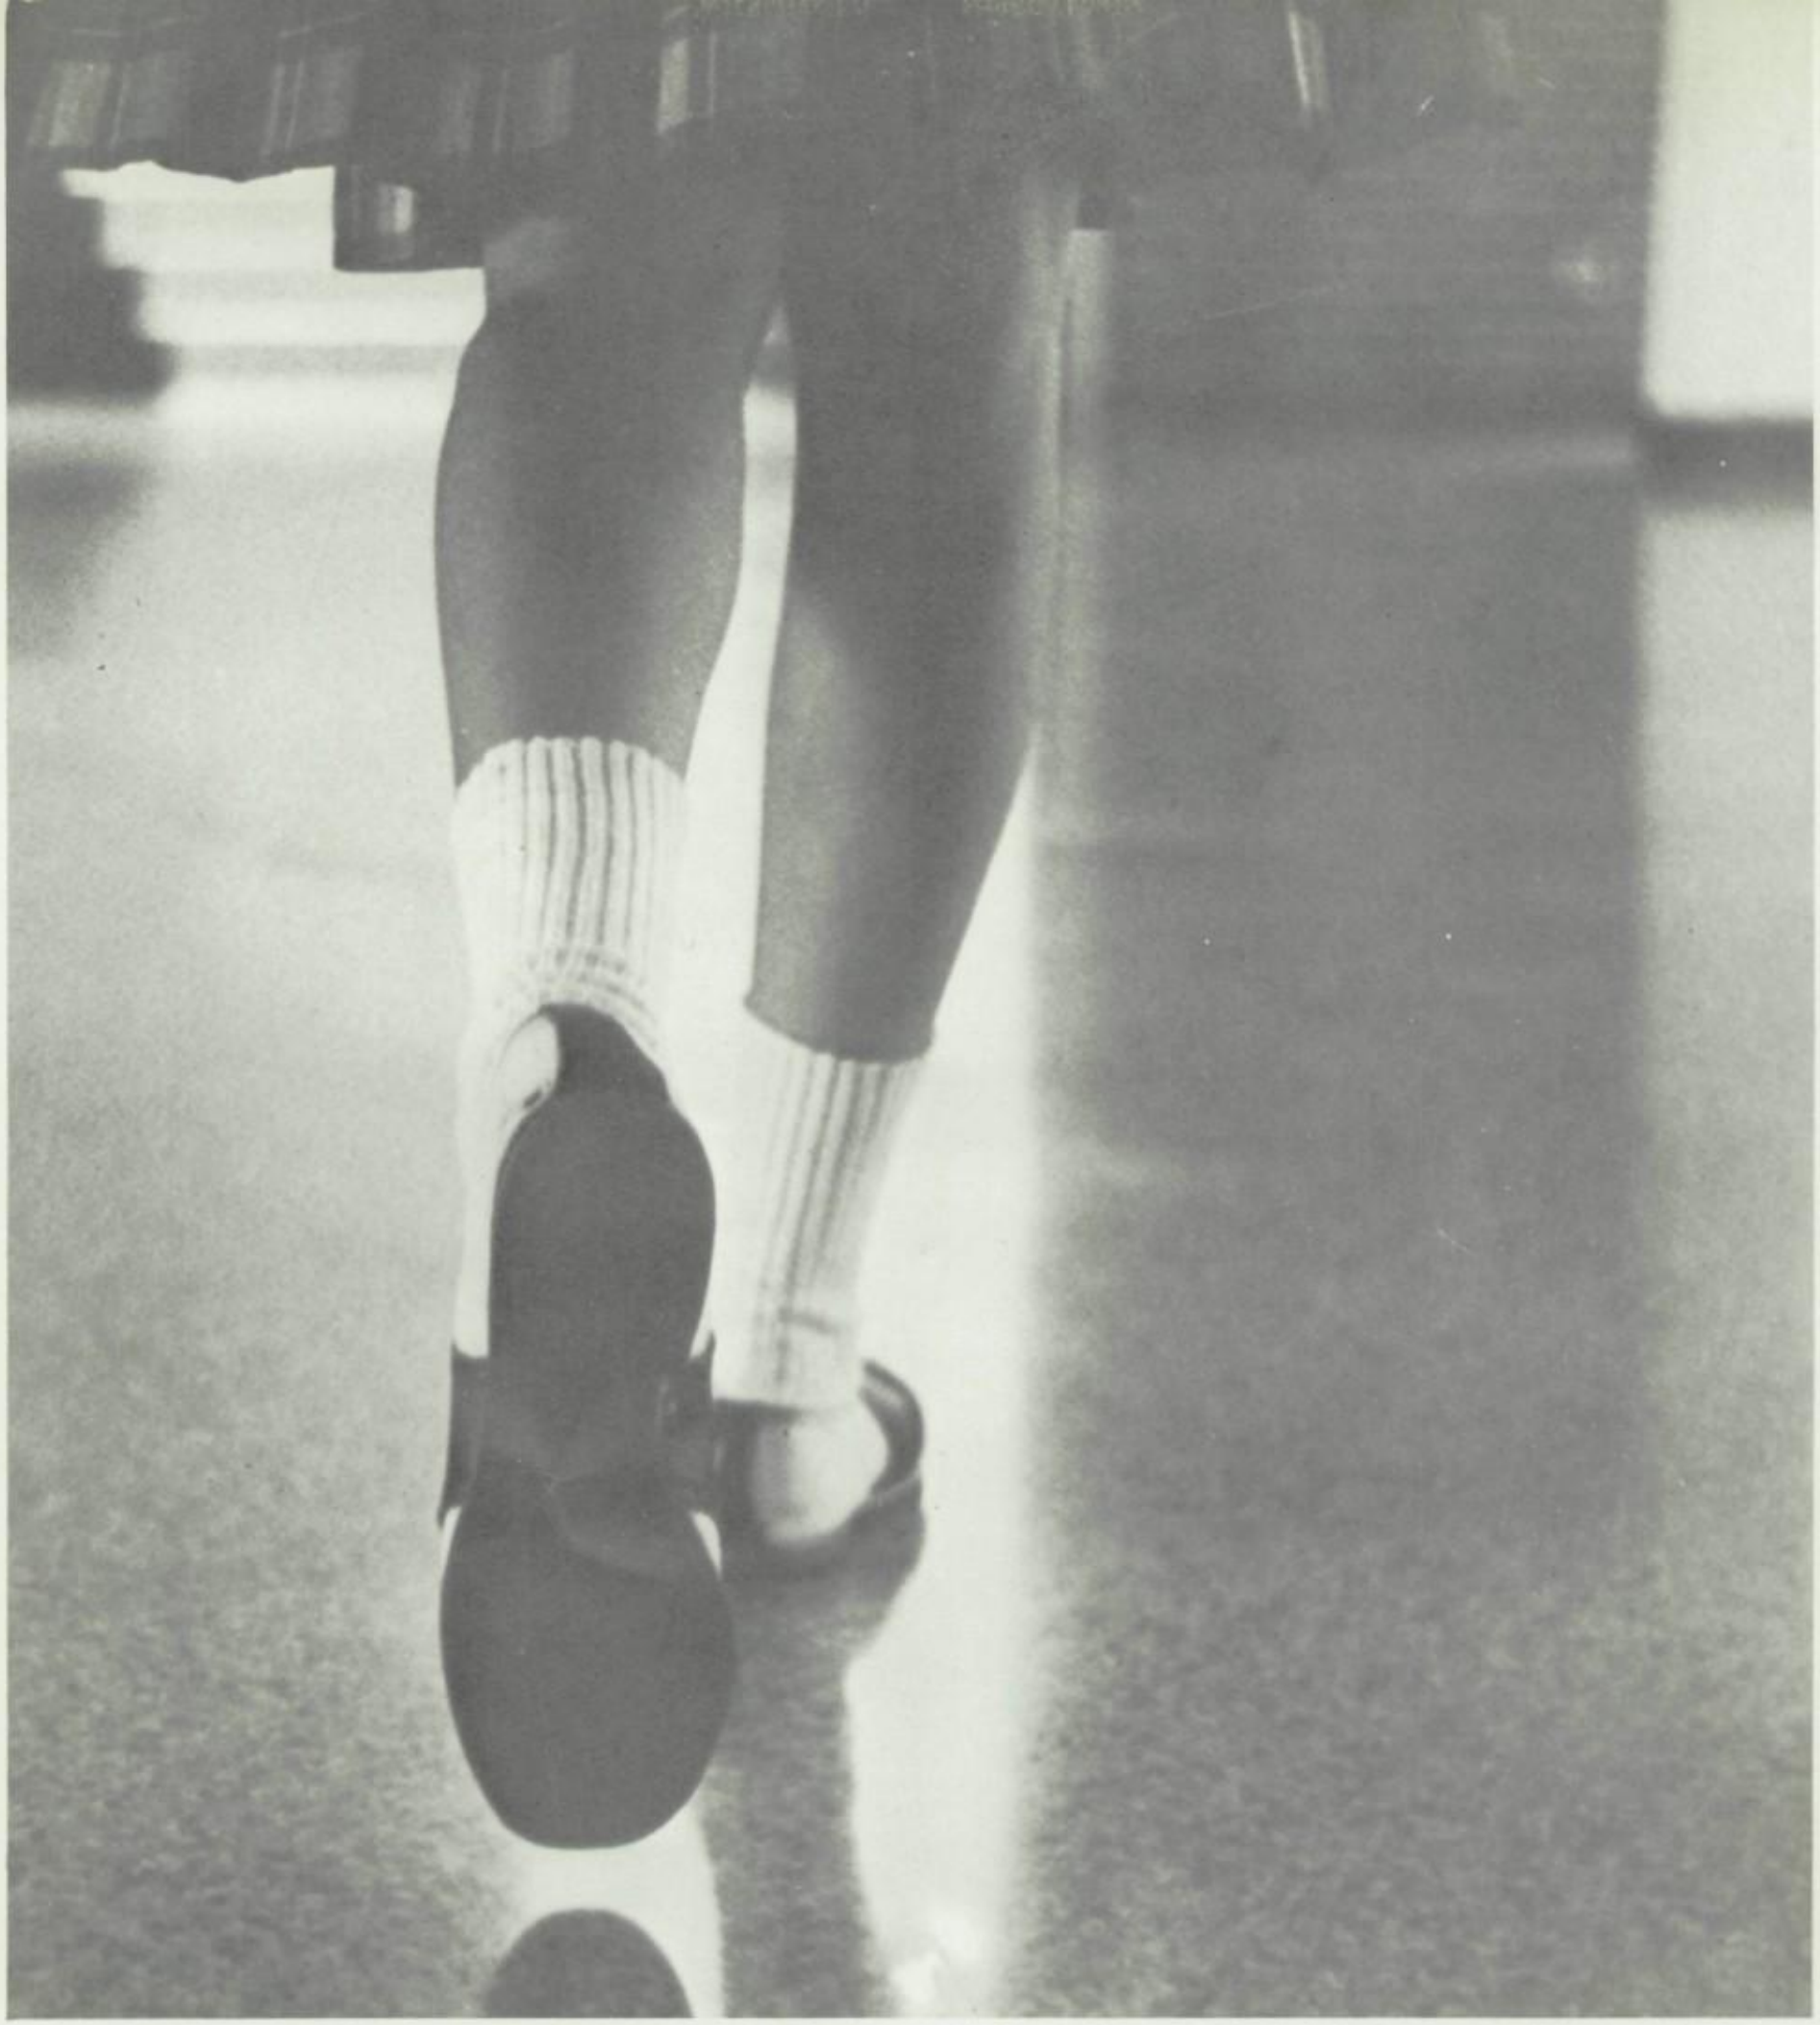
PARADET





PARAPET 1969

Beaumont School for Girls

Cleveland Heights, Ohio

It's sad to know that when you walk out the doors it will be the last time. And if you should return for a moment you'll never meet the friends you shared your laughter and tears with.

It's sad to know that when you're gone, the only connection you'll have will be a memory—one that will cause a smile or a few tears.

When you leave a hand will guide you to the door. A hand that cared for you for four years, that picked you up when you fell, that wiped the tears from your cheek, that will wave good-bye.

When you leave you will turn back and gaze at the walls that held you for four years. You'll laugh and frown at this place, this school, this Beaumont—but you'll leave your footsteps at the door.

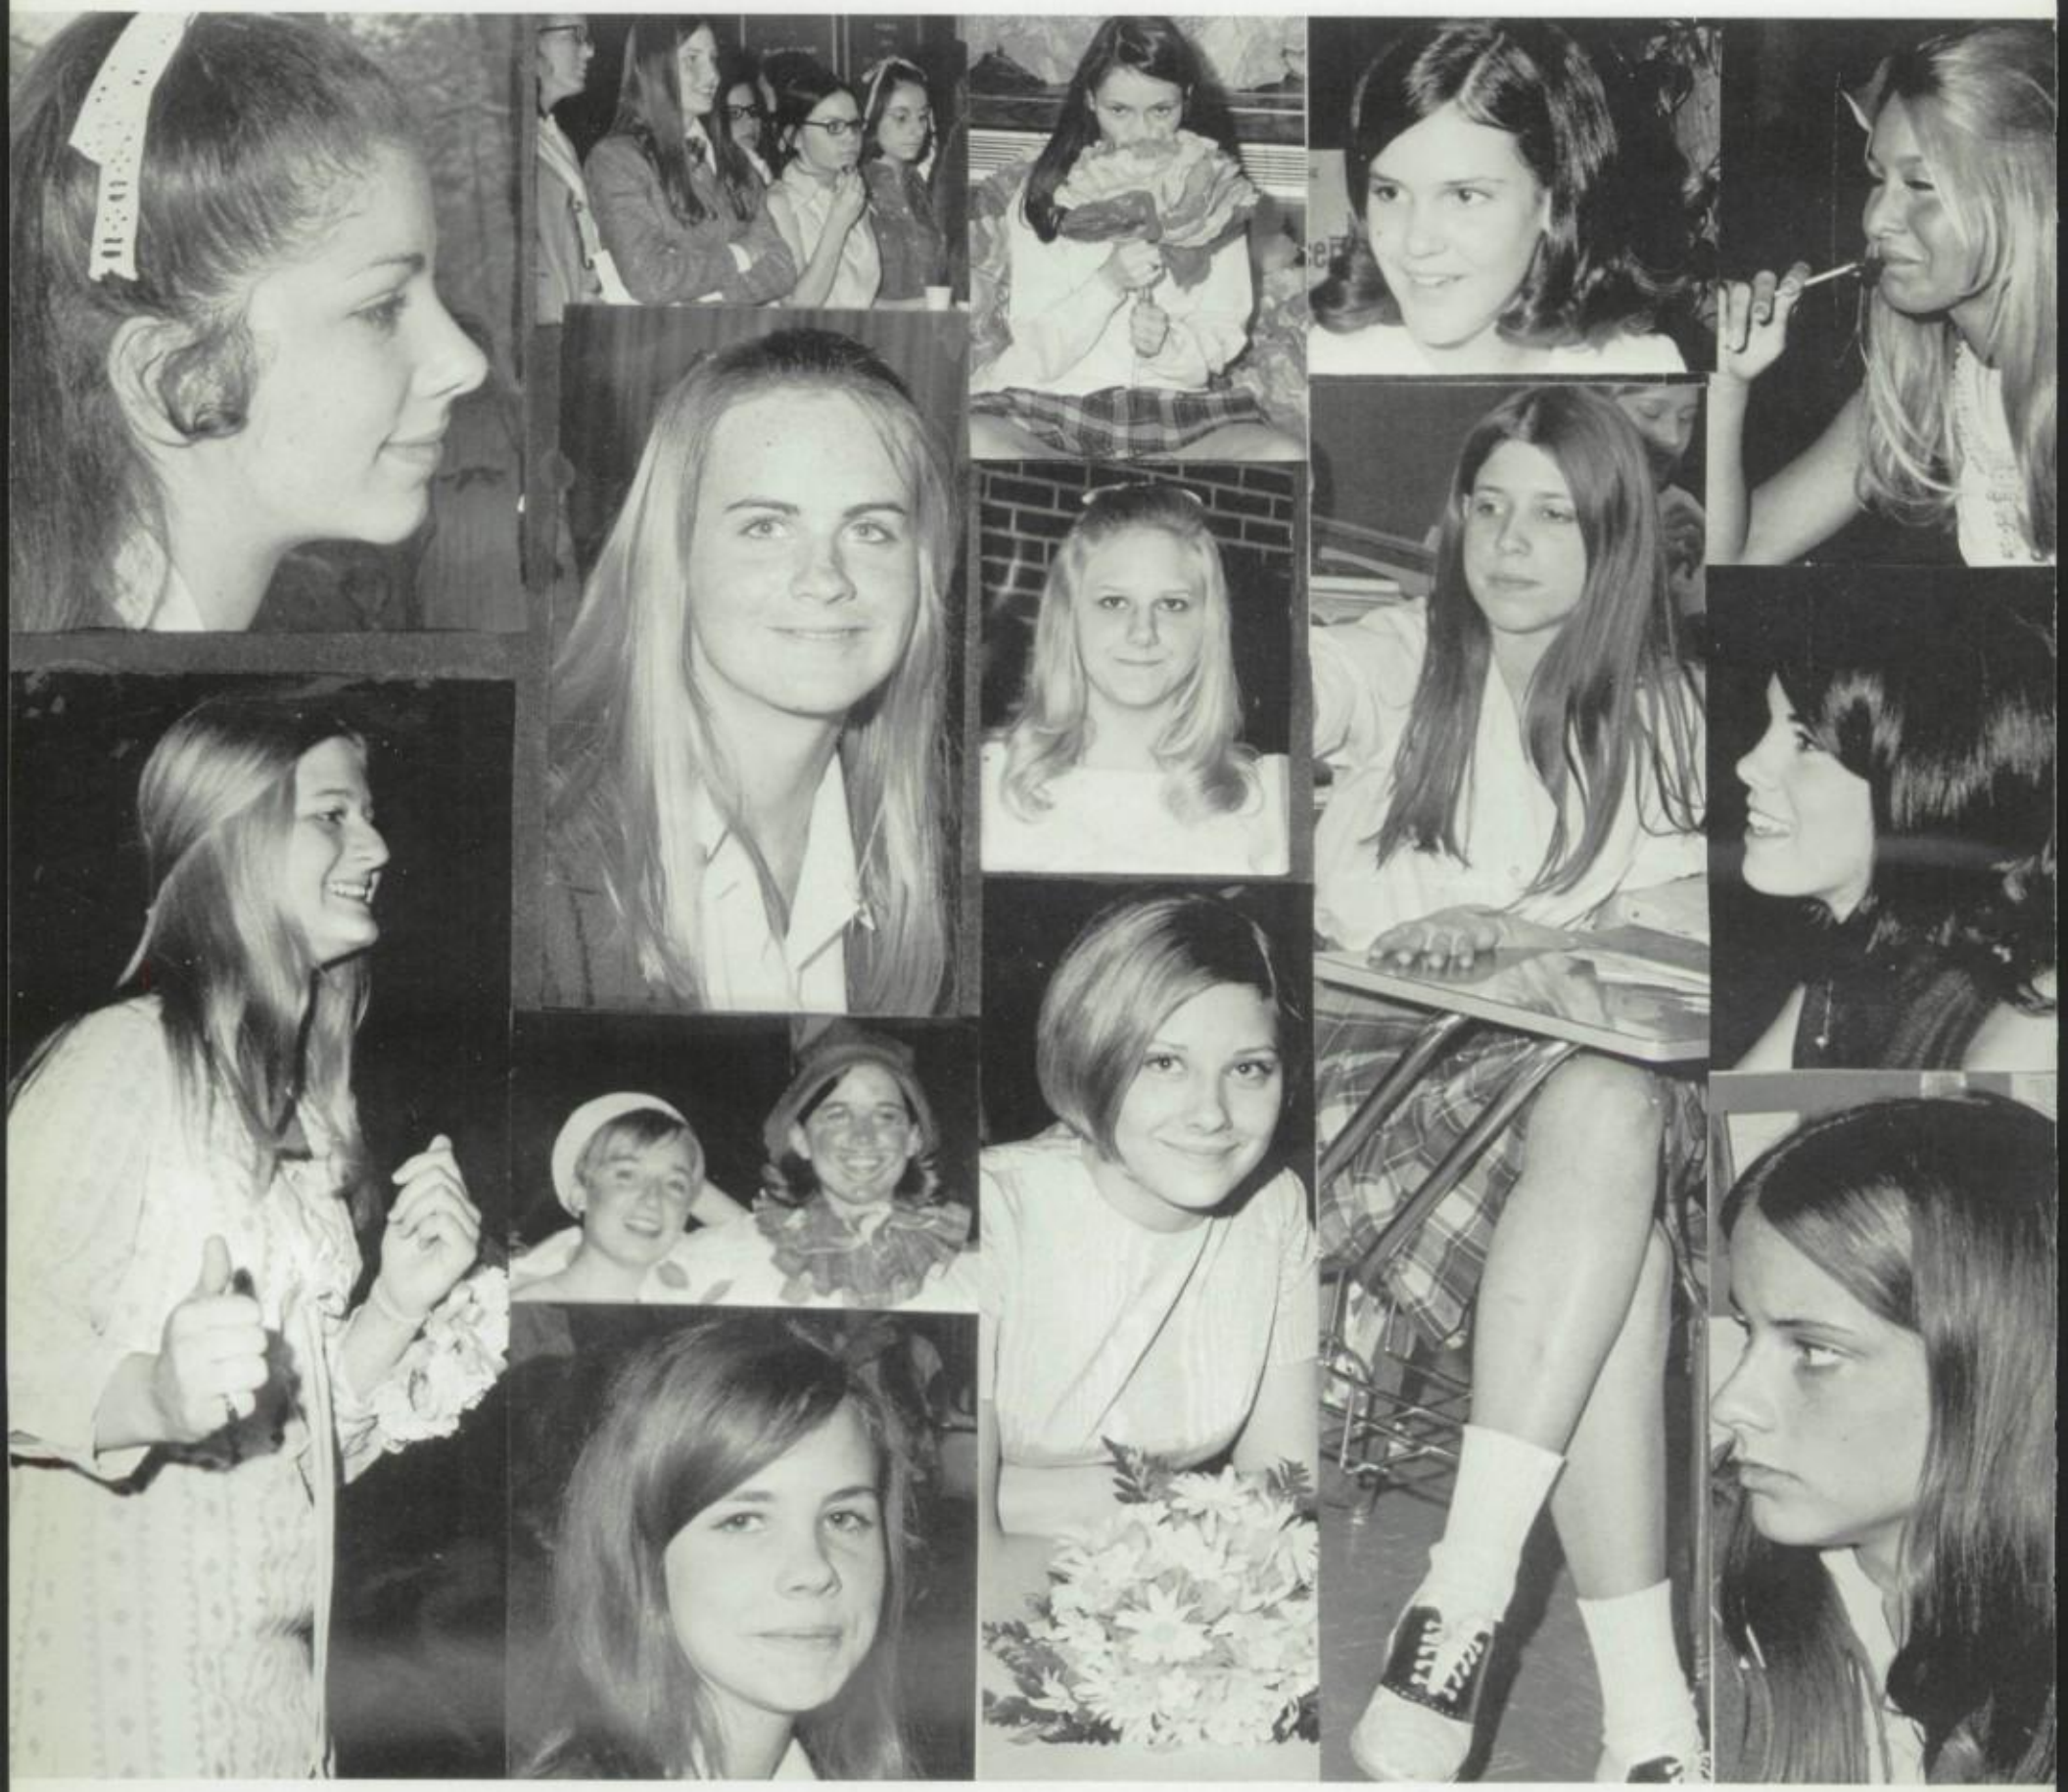
We dedicate the 1969 PARAPET to the Beaumont Girl.



NANCY'S CHERRY TREE

Dear Heaven, I give thanks to thee
For the things I did not realize before:
For the wisdom of maturity,
For bread, and a roof, and for one more thing—
That I will remember forever as I see
The blossoms on Nancy's cherry tree.

Nancy died on January 14. Teachers and students alike remember Nancy's love for Beaumont.

Footsteps . . .
  are like memories
You can't see those that you will make in the future
Nor those you might be making
You can only see those you have made.

We have trudged through weary halls together and stamped our saddled feet
upon the stairs.

We have run through cheerful corridors and slipped and slid on slippery-waxed gymnasium floors.

We have applauded
assemblies, bought boutiques
and bake sales.

We have shared four years
of tears and laughter,
pride and embarrassment,
happiness and sadness.

They were hard and trying years, but time still passed too quickly.

We couldn't afford to stop we were made to run . . .

Into the future
where our footsteps took haphazard direction.

And now we have lost
each other,
Now we are consoled by our memories, not by each other.

Remember the route to school
the Lee Road bus
the 32-C
Judy's carpool
Nancy's car (?)
June's Falcon
Peggy's Mustang.

Lockers banging shut.
We couldn't wait to leave.
But it seems that we left too soon.

We have shared four years
And have kept the souvenirs,
For memories are hard to lose.

Footsteps
can't be "unstepped" or "retrod."
They exist as originals.
So memories too are genuine.

"Time it was
And what a time it was
It was . . .
A time of innocence,
A time of confidences
Long ago . . . it must be . . .
I have a photograph
Preserve your memories;
They're all that's left you."

The 1969 Pacesetters

The footprints made in Beaumont's halls belong to the faculty as well as to the students. Keeping in step with the fast-moving pace of today, they still found time to teach where wisdom, not knowledge, was lacking; to counsel where guidance, not reproach, was needed; to joke where laughter, not sympathy, was consoling. They have taught. We have learned. Together, we have shared Beaumont.

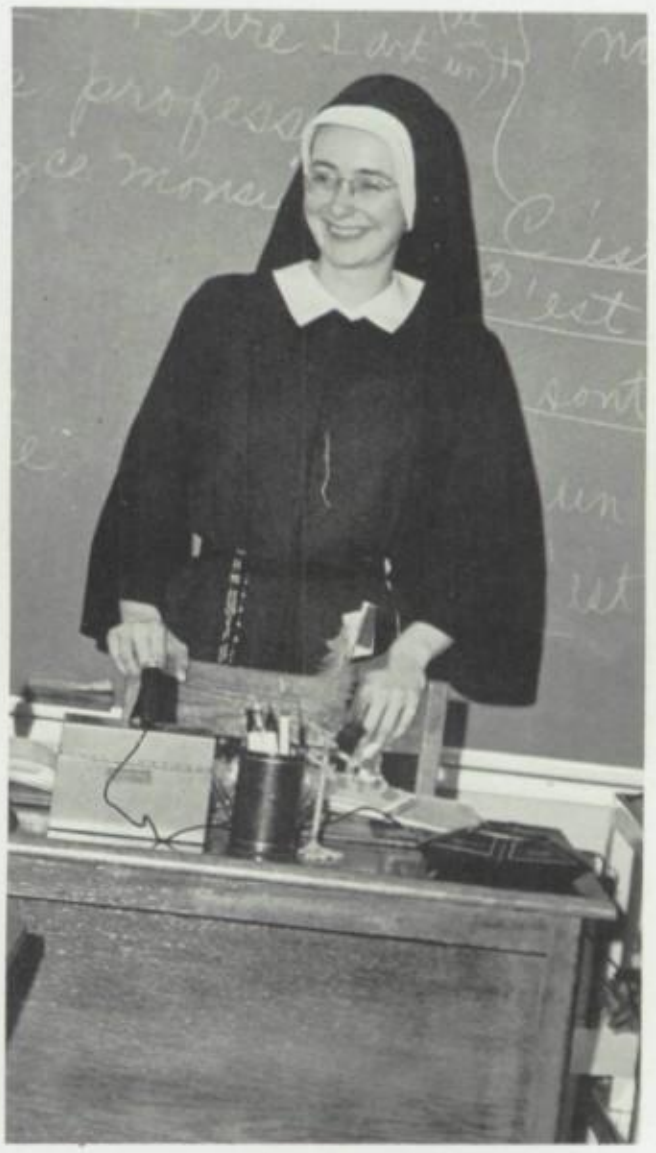
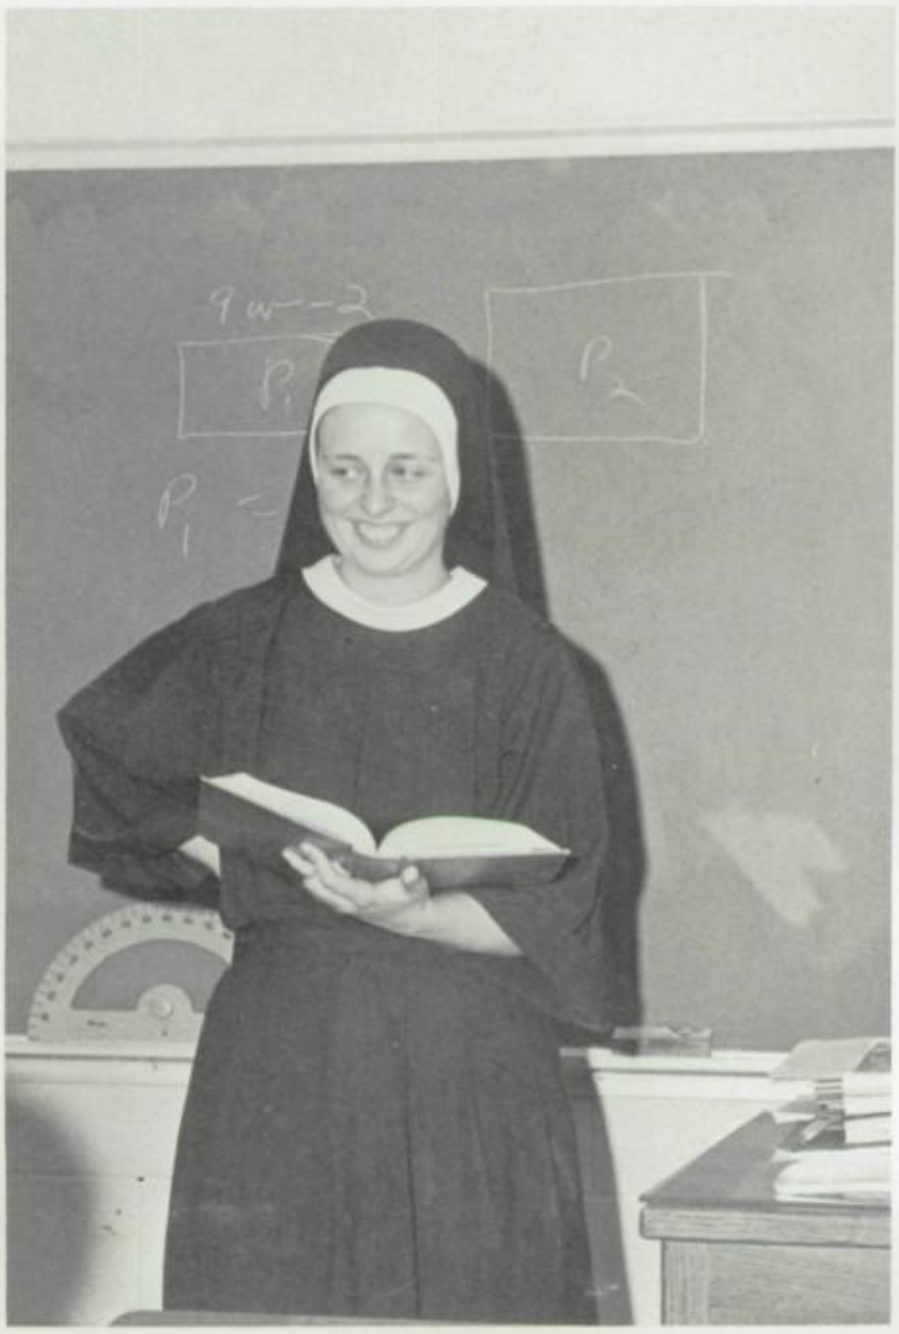
CURRIC

ULUM



New ingredients were added to the basic chemistry of curriculum at Beaumont in 1968-69. The seniors with the divisional four quarter system, sophomores with the combination Algebra-Geometry. The entire student body had a more efficient intense guidance structure and subsidiary science courses.



Our artist of geometry, Sister Ellen.

Seniors enter the Castle for tea.

The Beaumont Alumnas, since its origin, has sponsored various activities for the benefit of the student. This year, under the direction of Mrs. Paul Hoffmyer (president), the group's activities included their annual Communion Breakfast, a tea for the graduating seniors, and the co-sponsoring of the Garden Party.

ZATIONS

Student Council

Freshman winners of the S.C. hootenanny.

Halloween dancers at the Halloween Dance.

The seniors' high-flyin' kite.

In 68-69 the Student Council truly stepped up, up, and away. Bev, Joan, and Sister Lucille introduced S.C. values in the first spirit rally of the year. It is from here that we remember:

America, America
Shall we tell you how we feel
You have given us your spirit
We love you so.

Next came the Kite flying Contest and discover Beaumont Week which initiated class spirit. From there, other activities such as the Halloween Dance, The Hootenanny, and the Christmas Assembly further strengthened the ties between the classes. All of their endeavors to bring "spirit" into Beaumont were a great success, from the seemingly insignificant holly to a new and better demerit system.

These girls worked hard for a better student faculty relationship, better class relationships, and better student relationships.

"Follow the yellow brick road."

This year the Beaumont Drama Club, moderated by Miss M. Sonnhalter, presented the delightful musical, "The Wizard of Oz." Miriam Flynn, Loretta Randle, Alex Armstrong and Juana Breland revealed the land of Oz to a receptive audience. Overcome by the Wizard, Judy Dunlop, was the Wicked Witch of the West, Cathy Collura.

Kansas City here we come!

Beaumart

A splash of color, a cry of paint, matted canvas, silk screened textiles . . . these are the sounds of BEAUMART. In each piece of work, the artist's sorrows, triumphs, joys, and frustrations can be seen.

Art at Beaumont until recently has been a senior elective. This year, under the moderation of Sister Andre, a two year program was initiated for the benefit of girls wishing to study it further. Marianne Kasunick, president, was indispensable. The girls not only worked hard for the annual Scholastic Art Show and the Beaumart Mini-May Show, but they also took part in community projects, including an anti-smoking poster contest.

A little dab will do ya.

This is the easy way out.

It's what's up here that counts.

Harmonious Harmonics of Harmony

Officers: Mary Beth Zablotny, Kathy Fehrenbach, Mimi Sattler, Mary Jo Denmarsh.

A chorus of the different voices of Beaumont blended together in harmony made up the Beaumont Glee Club, 1968-69. Under the fine moderation of Sister Agnes Marie and president Mary Beth Zablotny, the Glee Club brought the magic of Christmas to the audience at their annual winter concert. In the spring came their second concert in which they invited all to be "free to follow your heart."

Not only did they bring joy through their traditional concerts, but they also were of service to the community by performing for various charities.

Take it, Miriam!

Why is it snowing?

Mission Club

The Turtle Race at the Carnival.

Moderator Sr. Bernardine with president Debbie Ungar.

This year the Mission Club, moderated by Sister Bernardine, used a different approach to organize their membership. The Club was limited this year to twenty-five Core group members. These girls worked diligently in all Mission projects throughout the year. The Core group attended a "Search" at Lumon Cordium Retreat House, where they learned to listen to what people were really saying and not just what they wanted to hear. Other projects were Diafra Week and the Thanksgiving baskets.

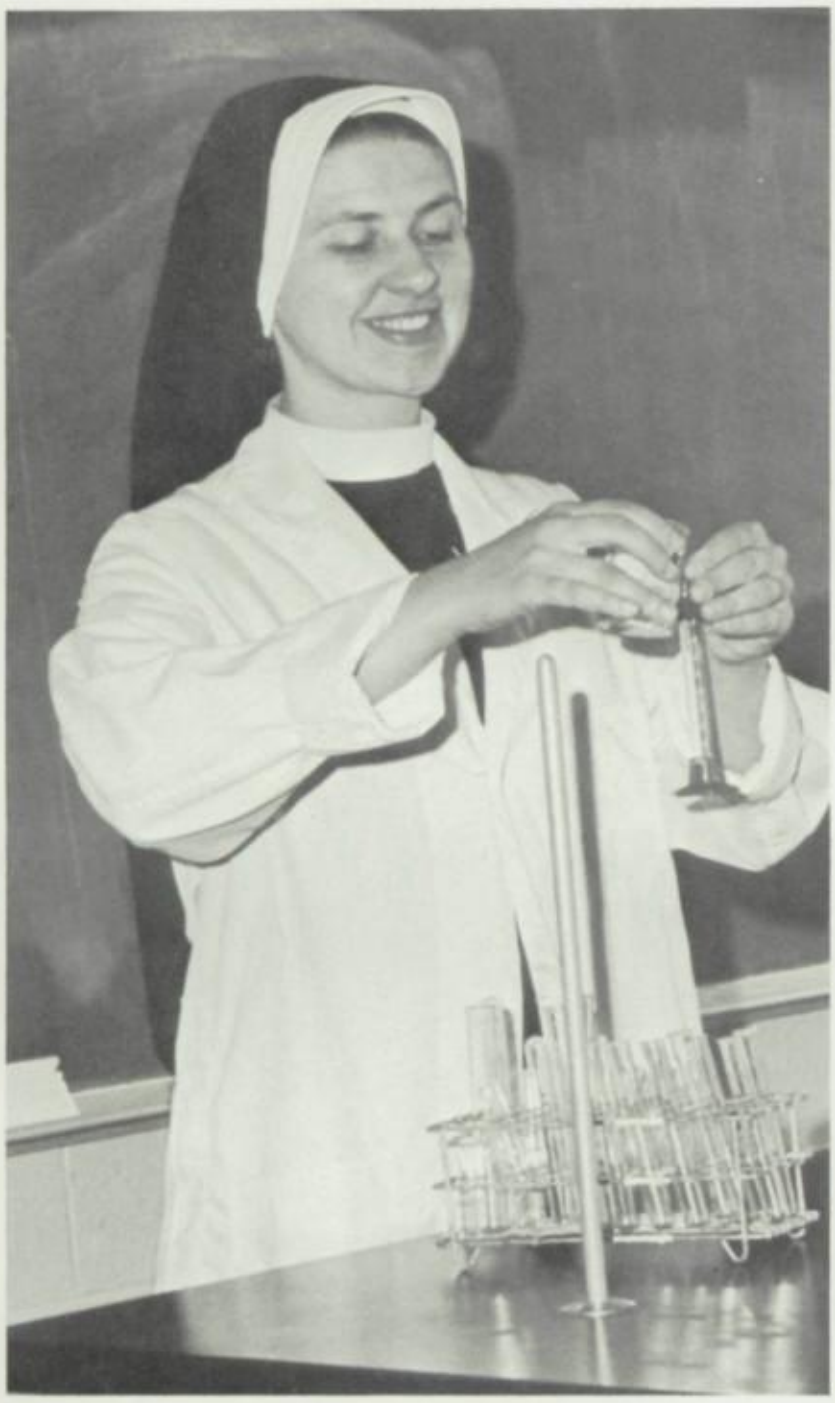
Beaumont's Academy



Beaumont's own mad scientist.

The vast expanse of time and space, the secrets of light and color, relativity, gravity—these are but a few of the mysteries of the world. The members of the Beaumont Academy of Science delved into the unknown this past year through field trips, guest speakers and independent studies. Through their explorations they came into closer contact with mankind.

JCWA: Accent the World

Officers: Joan, Betsy Thompson, Joan Stoffer, Mary Reistenberg.

Hey, there's a Beaumont in Texas.

The Junior Council on World Affairs is a fast-moving organization under the moderation of Mrs. Plent and four officers. Their president, Joan Stoffer, led them through a hectic year, which began with a mock presidential election in November and ended with a model U.N. The members have discussed some of the vital issues facing the world today at their monthly meetings, often with students from other schools. At St. Ignatius they took part in a Pan African council, at Euclid High School they participated in a model U.N. Their most exciting venture was to Gannon, where they spent a weekend as delegates from Laos.

NHS

President Sue Walton at the NHS assembly.

Officers: Mary Ruth Thompson, Betsy Stasick, Marilyn Bosak, and Sue Walton.

This year's most dramatic assembly was sponsored by the National Honor Society. Showing how the qualities of character, leadership, scholarship, and service related to each Beaumont student, the officers and members produced a marvelous program under the moderation of Sister Ellen. The two student-made films, color slides of Beaumont girls in action, and background music by Simon and Garfunkel were some of the innovations that won unanimous approval.

The NHS has also sponsored a tutoring program for any interested students. Junior and senior members were greatly rewarded by their experience in teaching. The rapport they shared with the underclassmen brought greater unity to Beaumont.

NHS Installation.

Officers: Patti Di Renzo, Marie Saulino, and Jane Hanslik.

Sodality

The Christian woman's role in the modern world was exemplified by the members of the Sodality Club. Under the moderation of Sister Eunice, the members pursued their goals of realistic idealism through their varied activities. They held a bake sale and an interesting Holy Hour.

Officers flank president Sharon Guarnera.

FTA

Shaker "exchange students" visit Beaumont through the FTA program.

The Future Teachers of America, moderated by Sister Brigid, has tried to acquaint those who are interested with the different levels of education, such as primary or high school, and with special fields of teaching, such as the blind or the deaf. Every girl had a teacher whom she assisted either at Beaumont or in a nearby parish school.

Red Cross

Under the moderation of Sister Karen and the leadership of Deb Stefanek, the members of the Red Cross Club have made many hearts happy. The club has made repeated visits to the Cleveland Psychiatric Ward and to Cleveland State Hospital in an effort to serve the community better. They also collected trading stamps and coupons, and sponsored a clothing drive to help the needy.

Club officers: Katie Hyland, Louise Howson, Deb Stefanik.

Miriam auctions Judy off at the Red Cross Auction.

Gym Dandy

Led by Senior Kathy Mechir, the Cadet Club leaped into the wonderful world of sports. As they played against members of the faculty and other schools, it was thrilling to watch the team's speed, strength and sportsmanship.

The cadets also assist Mrs. Nolan in refereeing gym classes during their study halls and after school at intermural games.

Cadets lead regular gym classes in exercise programs.

Deadline made.

The Wall

This year The Wall, newly sponsored by Sister Sharon and assisted by editor Brenda Hall, forged ahead in its pursuit of fine journalistic style. This search was aided by page editors, a journalism workshop, and a deeper involvement in student affairs. In the fall they co-sponsored the opening of the Pub (publications room) with the Parapet Staff.

Sister Sharon, moderator.

Officers: Miriam and Coletta Flynn, Camille Duer, June Kacian, Mary Jo Denmarsh, and Joyce McCormack.

Read-In

The Beaumont Library Club under the outstanding moderation of Mrs. Martha Wells and the leadership of Camille Duer and Mary Joan Rattay has sponsored various activities throughout the year. This included the successful Birthday Book Club and the annual bakesale and Christmas party. Also the members have received basic training in library technology while working as aides.

Speech / Debate

With moderator Sister John Mary, the Speech and Debate Club really went into full swing. Not only did they debate at other schools, but the president, Lynn Widmar also organized a pre-debate Discussion at Beaumont. A model debate between U.S. and Beaumont was presented at an assembly where once again the latter was victorious. This year Miss Sonnhalter was indispensible to the Speech members, as she coached them to success. Speech and Debate is Always a success, whether or not the individual members make District Finals, the self-confidence they acquire through public speaking will always be a valuable asset for them.

Officers: Rosemary Amato, Andrea Vareska, Lynn Widmar, and Charleen Ward.

Parents

With various new courses to enrich their daughters' educations and tennis courts as immediate goals, the Mothers' Guild and Fathers' Club worked diligently throughout the year. Card parties, the annual Cadillac raffle, Communion breakfasts and the Turbo-Tradition annual garden party are some of their money-making projects that also helped to bring the faculty, students, parents closer together.

Can we forget that first deadline? At school from 8 in the morning till 10 at night. We made Lipton noodle soup on the hot plate. That was the soup made from the water we brought in the pan from the O'Donnell's house. And we had tuna fish, peanut butter, ham salad and potato salad and coke, too. We made that deadline.

Remember how the peanut butter stayed in the PUB all year and everytime we had a meeting we stuck our fingers in the jar and sucked and licked till the peanut butter was all stuck to the roofs of our mouths and our index fingers were just a little sticky?

And that coke bottle with the mold growing on it that was there almost all year and got greener and greener till we came in one day and it was gone because we figured that somebody on newspaper threw it out?

PARAPET '69 was that first deadline, that jar of crunchy peanut butter, and the moldy bottle of coke, staging the events we missed, rushing, writing, cropping, triplicate forms. We of the staff all remember. The memories might be light-hearted and maddening, but they're all we have left, save the book, and they're even more important.
